KidSport Saskatchewan
serves communities
throughout the province
where Local KidSport
Chapters do not exist.

Proudly supported by:

SaskTel

KidSport helps children of families facing financial obstacles to participate in sport, so that no kid is left on the sidelines.

Who is eligible to receive a KidSport grant?

- Families that are low-income and facing financial barriers.
- Grants are for children and youth 5-18 years of age.
- Amateur sport programs.

What does KidSport cover?

- Sport registration fee
- Families are eligible for financial support up to $750 per child per calendar year.

KidSport Guidelines

- Applications must be filled out completely and appropriate documentation submitted.
- Applications must be submitted before the start date of the sport activity.
- KidSport does not fund team fees, camps, travel, tournaments, championships, high performance, sports field trips, specialized training, fitness memberships, swim passes, dance, etc.
- For a list of eligible sports, please visit: kidsportcanada.ca/saskatchewan
- Generally accepted sport activities are those recognized and/or sanctioned by the member organizations of Sask Sport.
- KidSport funds one sport per season.

How to apply to KidSport

1. Register your child into a sport program.
2. Apply for KidSport well in advance of the sport program.
